

KINGS COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING

Department of Science and Humanities

|                                             |                                                                                     |
|---------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Name:Ms. J.ANNICE VENCY                     |  |
| Designation:                                | Assistant Professor                                                                 |
| Qualification:                              | M.A, B.Ed, MPhil (English)                                                          |
| AreaofSpecialization:                       | Indian writing in English                                                           |
| Experience:                                 | Teaching: 6yrs                                                                      |
|                                             | Industry:-NIL                                                                       |
| No.of workshop /Conferences/ FDP attended : | Conference:Inter National -4                                                    |
| Publication:                                | JournalNational: - NILInternational: NIL                                    |
|                                             | ConferenceNational:1International: NIL                                      |
| Membership:                                 | NIL                                                                                 |
| Achievements:                               | NIL                                                                                 |

Paper Presented

- Presented a paper entitled -Feminism: a post-colonial crisis among indian women as depicted in Shobade's Second Thoughts Organised by A.V.V.m Sri Pushpam college.
- Presented a paper entitled -Psychological metamorphosis on human emotions in Toni morrison's sula Organised by A.V.V.m Sri Pushpam college

- Presented a paper entitled -Feminism in margrat atwood's surfacing Organised by A.V.V.m Sri Pushpam college
- Presented a paper entitled -Trace of feministic perspectives in the novels of shobade Organised by A.V.V.m Sri Pushpam college

Paper publication

- National level seminar on "education for women empowerment" topic- "women productive and income-generation activities"